Saturday, November 27, 2004 - 10:00 AM

A long preparatory work is necessary to make the world of men progress and to let it reach another level of consciousness. All men will not be ready and we cannot currently go beyond that. May these messages addressed to our brothers make them become aware of the need for acting toward their evolution. What arguments can we put forward to sensitize them on an important fact that will change the course of their destiny?

"Caught in the pitfalls of modern life, they become intoxicated with various sensations making them forget the goal of their incarnation. Are they going in the desired direction or prevaricating by giving themselves good excuses to postpone what they should do today? Man is like that; generally he forgets the appeals of his true nature to satisfy less noble needs characterizing human nature. All have to fight it. We are not moralizers in this matter; we want to draw the attention of our aspirants to unavoidable realities they must take into consideration.

"To advance cheerfully towards the goal with respect for oneself and others is a rejoicing program. The events of this existence are to be considered with some hindsight, by devoting enough room to what is determining for their future life, as it is awaiting them in other places where the criteria for evaluation will be different.

"Divested of the useless aspects, they will have to face up to their own truth, and there, the surprise will be very big. May they already start doing some soul-searching, as we wish them to do."

Babuji