Saturday, April 28, 2001 - 8:00 AM

I venerated my Master Ramakrishna, as few disciples did. My love for him is eternal; these bonds are indefectible.

"I often appeared to your Beloved Babuji who had also this faculty of communicating with us, when he was on this Earth.

"All of us here are working for this Mission, which you love and support. This path is a simple and efficient way, given again to the men of this time, to allow them access to higher levels. It is not demanding; it is entirely accessible to anyone who is willing to take the trouble for it.

"Keep on focusing your life on love, as you are doing since a long time. It is at the root of any process that is well understood, and yet love is not innate in every one. One has to call it intensely and make it one's daily food.

"To quench one's thirst continuously at this source, with the practice of Sahaj Marg, brings convincing results. The opening of the heart calls the grace. Love attracts love. It is a magical circle that is established between the being and Divinity. Love magnifies everything.

"You have my Master's blessings who, a long time ago, managed to touch your heart, leaving in it a lasting impression.

"Be blessed, my dear sister, continue to work for us in your own way which we do appreciate."

Vivekananda