Sunday, July 27, 2003 - 4:00 PM

This much loved son has gone a long way, beyond my dreams as a mother. His return among us will be a great celebration. He carries on his mission of divine service with his usual vigour. He is helped by his invaluable capacity for work, and manages the Mission like the head of a great company.

"From a long time back, I wished to talk to him through your channel. Your remembrance of me encourages me to do it. We are all of us here so happy to cherish him and to be able to show him how much we love him. You henceforth belong to this circle, as your love for him has grown considerably, under the influence of grace.

"We are under the influence of the Divine heart of Him whom my son venerates above all: his Beloved Master. Thank you for acceding to my affectionate pressure on you, which burdens your usual program.

"May my son blessed among all, feel through these lines, all the love of the one who was his mother on this earth. As I will be with him till his dying breath, he will feel this tender presence, which every man needs until the end of his life.

"My much beloved son, we will meet again next to the Very Great Babuji Maharaj, when you have completed this so important mission entrusted to you.

"Respectfully at your feet, the one who was your mother,"

Janaki