Janaki Rajagopalan

Thursday, May 21, 1998 - 11:45 a.m.

(In meditation.

Ascension Day—Message from Janaki, Master's Mother.)

My son, you have not put a foot wrong, you give all your best. We are happy with your success. I have been long waiting for a favourable moment to come back. I am often close to you. We are sometimes saddened by your discouragement, but the work accomplished is immense and you are managing as best you can. We support you in your undertakings. We love you and bless you all. One day, we will be reunited and we will taste humanly indescribable joys. You are never alone, and you should know it. I am proud of you, my son."

(Thereafter, I ask the following question.)

The Medium: "Is this really you, Janaki?"

"Yes, my little daughter, we are sad to see you suffering, but such is your path. Thanks for having had the idea of re-transmitting my first message to him; I am happy, through you, to deliver this second one. We inspired you for that."

Janaki