It is in the face of the difficulties of life and its ordeals that man's true nature emerges. All, including error of judgments, is initiatory. Don't be scathing towards certain behaviours of your brothers involved in various tasks within the Mission. They are generally genuine and realize, a bit later, their errors, if by chance they actually want to become aware of them.

"It is not easy to find a superman. Very fervent beings that have a good level of spirituality, and are devoted to their Master, are entrusted with responsibilities at the material and human levels, which are beyond them. Even if similar circumstances are not favourable to the group where they occur, they must make each member think about this aspect of the life of this community [Sahaj Marg].

"It is easy not to get involved and to judge. Rather try to offer your services and to give your opinion in certain situations. The lack of dialogue does not facilitate anything. It is necessary to be wary of power and its attraction to those who aspire to have it.

"The University of Life is an obligatory passage for all. The most outstanding failings of each one must be fully revealed before being neutralized as much as possible."
