Tuesday, April 4, 1995 – 10:00 a.m.

You will become a headlight. Didn't you feel that your mission was to attract souls? You know well that light should not remain under the bushel? The time has come, and your mission will start. You will not have unanimous support, but [anyway] who does? Such is the case even for great beings. See my hand in everything. I love you, my child; you should have confidence."

"Call Marie-Christine for a sitting. You should know each other better and help each other. She is a high-quality soul."

Babuji

Thursday, April 13, 1995

The Medium: "Babuji, I would like to sleep on your heart and never wake up again. Please, see to it that my heart should be similar to yours..."

This will be long and difficult."

Babuji

The Medium: "You have not said: 'it is impossible', which makes me have every hope for that. This may take long, but how does this compare with eternity?"