(I have remained here as I have not been able to go to Augerans as planned.)

How can you believe that you are alone, you who know that one is never alone? You are my beloved child. I will lead you to the destination. You are destined to live in a bright world, far from baseness and ingratitude!"

The Medium: "Forgive me, Babuji, for not being as well as I would like..."

"It is your heart that I see; as for the remainder, you are doing your best and your life is not an easy one. You manage in spite of everything to set an example of courage and faith. Don't worry for Chantal; one day she will acknowledge what you did for her, even if she cannot understand it now. My child, be in joy in your inner light; let it be your universe. The incomprehension of the others towards you does not matter. We know, we love you-isn't this the most important? Humans have blinkers and do not see the true treasures. You hold a privileged place for me; never forget it, be strong and joyful in spite of everything."

The Medium: "Is it really you, Babuji?"

"How can you doubt it again; didn't I give you enough evidence?"

The Medium: "Thank you, Babuji, you are my courage, my light, my life. Thank you for coming, only you can comfort me..."

"My little child, I bless you."
