Thursday, February 11, 1999 - 4:00 a.m.

Yes, you understood it well my child, ours is a love relationship.

"It is your love that has touched me and not your merits. You know that.

"Love overcomes everything. There is no complete love without purity and surrender. It was all said in the book: My Master, written by my son. Read it again; draw your inspiration from it all the time; let it be your bedside book. It is written with much simplicity and great exactness. It was inspired. Develop this quality in yourself, and become love. It opens all the doors, including those of our hearts. Thank Anne-Marie for her work."

(4:30 p.m.)

"We have been interrupted, but you see there is always matter for communication between us. As long as you can, we will do it. The spiritual path is a long process, thorny and difficult sometimes. It requires very great perseverance; everything has always to be restarted all over again. But the same is true for material tasks, which are only meant for your support.

"Spiritual work also is endless, but it will lead you to the state of pure spirit."

Babuji