Saturday, April 3, 1999 - 10:00 a.m.

We know well that all these comments cannot comfort you for the time being. But if we don't tell you anything, you think that we have forgotten you.

"What more can we tell you? You know everything or almost everything about your state. We will always be close to you until the end to remind you about our love for you; you will have to make do with this."

Babuji