Why wouldn't you like to call things by their rightful name? Spirituality requires being absolutely truthful! We are not dealing with worldly matters only made of appearances, trickery, associated with the attributes of maya and its trail of pretence. We, we are beyond this framework, therefore let's be truthful, including in our comments. We do not promise anything unachievable. A spiritual work properly carried out under the guidance of a high level Master leads to the expected results.

"You have all the assets in hand; it is up to you to make a choice: the small or the bigger door. What are the aspirations of your heart? It is its availability, the fervour of its call which draws our attention and which makes us focus on it particularly.

"A sincere and profound request never remains unanswered.
"Our wish is that you should all reach the celestial fields.
"Fusion with one's Master is a fact and not a mere allegory.
"Open wide your heart and your soul to the beneficial rays of love.
"Grace will be proportional to the strength of the call."
