Thursday, April 29, 1999 - 8:00 a.m.

Don't start to underestimate yourself; you are making good progress, for which many envy you. And your capabilities are intact, so write down! The enthusiasm shown by the abhyasis is so beautiful. Such a big and nice celebration is being prepared. I am happy like a child filled with wonder to see what is taking place here [in Manapakkam] and in the rest of the world. This centenary is given such proportions; there is nothing more to say. Seeing you so happy and in expectation is joyful. Our brothers and sisters are so mobilized in answer to our appeal that my son and I are deeply touched.

"Manapakkam is a jewel; it becomes the temple of Sahaj Marg. It is a superb building, which could collapse under its cosmic charge. May it be, henceforth, your focal point, your reference point. Focus your mind on it. May your inner pilgrimage be in union with the place. It is full of power that you cannot imagine. You should know also that distances do not matter. You can easily connect to it through your thought with a very strong appeal.

"It will be, henceforth, the meeting point of all abhyasis around the world. It will be your Holy Land. I repeat it to you. This place is not only imposing by its proportions and its aesthetic, but also by what it represents in terms of uniqueness for our century. Never forget it."

Babuji