Thursday, April 29, 1999 - 10:00 a.m.

Not only are we touched by your enthusiasm, but it encourages us to mercy. You are like boisterous children whose moving and innocent goodwill compels forgiveness. We know that you do not like criticisms. In these specials days, we will not criticize but only bless. We are like benevolent and happy parents. We are inclined to understand and to praise you to the skies. We would like in the future to see you stronger and capable to hear what we wish to say about your behaviour, with the sole purpose of helping you to shape your personality, a little like artists who strive to take their creation closer to perfection.

"For the moment, let us leave aside this aspect of the things and let us indulge in the celebrations. As far as you are concerned, you should meditate, meditate and love, all will be for the best."

Babuji