You should bear in mind that as your Master grows, so does the Mission, and you likewise. You partake in a continuous movement of expansion, which will keep growing. It is the attraction force which manifests itself and grows broader, irreversibly. These dynamics are perhaps beyond you, and we cannot demonstrate them to you, but you can see the results thereof. They will keep intensifying in the future. It does not make any difference at your level. Attend to your affairs without worrying about all these cosmic rules. What matters is that you should realize that an important process is under way and that you belong to it. This spiritual movement will mark the coming century. You will have belonged to its initial structure. The foundations are sturdy now; we will be able to continue by accelerating the principle so that the Mission can reach its optimum growth and carry on its way on the same trajectory. My daughter, we will resume later; be happy to be in such a beautiful way."
