Wednesday, May 12, 1999 - 8:00 a.m.

Yes, it is good to send good thoughts to my son. He is happy, though very tired. We maintain him so that he can continue to assume his heavy task.

"You can see, from the pictures and the plans, the size of this achievement; he has supervised everything. The construction of this new complex was a source of much concern for him. It is unimaginable! The Indian workforce is not like what exists here. But everything is done so heartily that with efforts after efforts, the result obtained is perfect. As I have already said, this celebration, with the construction of this sanctuary, marks the beginning of an era of expansion for the Mission. This ceremony has struck the mind of brothers and sisters present and those who were connected to it through the heart. This seed received by each one of them will spread out. Be happy, you also who love your Masters; you belong to a large and solid body, which is at the beginning of a long and fruitful march.

"Rest, my daughter, be blessed."

The Medium: "Oh, thank you, Babuji, for this beautiful image that you give us. I do not feel handicapped any more. I am like the others, and I want to walk with them in this large body. It's wonderful!"

"Note this down."

Babuji