Be happy, my child. That you have reached this point fills us with joy. Anything we will possibly tell you on this issue seems unreal to you. You react under such circumstances as if it concerned someone else. You are a phenomenon!"

The Medium: "I do my best to please you; that's all that matters. I am the poor abhyasi, isolated in her tower and whom you cast your eyes on. What else can be asked for?"

"We do not regret it, it is a good investment. There are others among our associates in whom such investments are to be made. Currently in your times, the key words are: capital, interest, balance sheet, et cetera. Why wouldn't we have, we also, a specific vocabulary? Our business is of great importance and will not collapse after the fall of the dollar, the euro and other currencies. Our multinationals are firmly established; we don't worry for the future, unlike big businessmen of the world who can be ruined overnight. This happens now. It has occurred in a tragic way in the past and will recur. All values will be thoroughly reviewed. It will be necessary to set out again on new bases, with new circumstances. But that does not concern us, here and now. Men will have to adapt themselves. Therefore harden yourself to face up to any eventualities. Make your spiritual values bear fruit; nobody will be able to take them away. No stock market crash will destabilize you on this point. Your capital is unassailable. Cherish it; it is your most precious good."
