The Medium: "Babuji, use your scribe as long as she will be in a fit state to work."

To set your mind at rest, you should complete the ongoing work. Once they are printed, you will see these writings from a new angle; you will rediscover them. When you wish, you may refer to the message of the day, message 'of the beyond'. The writing will strike your heart. Your mind is receptive to this form of communication, and you have an advantage over those who are not receptive.

"There too, in the future, Earthmen will actually have to know that parallel worlds exist. Minds should open up and understand that certain beings have paranormal perceptions, which enable them to communicate with entities existing on other levels of consciousness.

"The time will come when you all will have to open up to these truths. There will always be reservations, but they don't matter! You who have the privilege to understand these phenomena, you should not linger over the reactions of people who are impervious to these ideas; each one has their own ideas. You are privileged people.

"In ancient times, societies known as primitive were definitely more receptive to this kind of contact as well as many other possibilities, which you have not any more been benefitting from for a long time. So-called advanced civilizations have neglected these various aspects of human capacities, considering that these were wild practices. One day, these kinds of values will reappear; there will be a thorough sweeping process to expunge useless aspects from the current teaching. Other values will be not only recognized, but also respected and highlighted. Rejoice for being among enlightened people."
