(This message followed a special experience with Lalaji, while meditating on Thursday, June 24 at 5:00 p.m.)

You are the custodian of our energies; this incorporation was meant to prepare you for this transfer. Don't worry, your life will remain the same, ordinary mortals will know nothing about it. Like the sphinx at the entrance of the temple, you will guard the secrecy of the place. Your role is special. This series of messages, which you may call 'Heart to Heart', will be reserved for a small group. They would not be easily understood by beings that have not been close to you in moments of spiritual intimacy, but still, can they really understand them? Nothing has changed in you, apparently. You remain the same, with your sharp reactions and your unevenly balanced language. You like and you can still appreciate some good aspects of life. It does not matter whether you are understood or not, you know how to hide your treasures. Continue your inner progress; be united with us more and more; detach yourself from the world. You are making progress, my daughter; we surround you in this delicate period."
