This despondency is not like you, my dear daughter. You have endured much in your life. Now that you have reached this true connection with us, which fills you with joy, don't let yourself be overwhelmed by all these difficulties, physical and material. Don't worry like that about tomorrow, a kind soul will end up coming towards you, if you do not have anybody to help you out and give you food."

The Medium: "It's painful to be dependant; not having anybody on whom to really count is painful in my situation."

"You will not always be like that. We will actually find a solution so that you are surrounded for all material issues and you are released from the day-to-day domestic problems. We will certainly not leave our daughter indefinitely facing her difficulties alone. Brotherhood still exists; a kind soul will actually come toward you and help you, though you will no longer be hoping for that. Keep heart, as you always did; many, in your place, would have given up a long time ago. You are very efficient in other areas. You know well that these messages are very important to us. They will be read more than you believe. Very fortunately, there are open-minded people, they may not agree with everything, but they will derive from them benefits that will end up opening their eyes. They will then understand the truth about these long-standing contacts. The development of this story, the improvement in our way of communicating, all this will unfold to them in all its reality: a beautiful story of an unfailing love between Master and disciple."
