Whispers from The Brighter World

These messages punctuate the course of days in our Mission. The Mission is progressing slowly, but in a secure and constructive manner that is meant to leave its mark on current times. Such writings are unique and they complement those that already exist. They form a whole that is relatively rich in this area.

"A number of our abhyasis appreciate them. Everyone sees things in their own way, and they advance towards a deeper understanding of all that we are offering. We cannot force anything. The sensitivity of our abhyasis is improving over time as they are making progress in their practice. Over the years, we can measure the progress generated by their practice — it is remarkable and justifies all our actions at different levels.

"Many things will disappear from Earth, but what is good for man's spiritual evolution will remain and be greatly encouraged. The age of enlightenment will come to this world. It may seem improbable today, yet it will come and transform this humanity, which is suffering in many ways.

"Since ancient times, humans have been seeking to destroy, to take power — a power that is so very deceptive. They stoop to compromises that are not worthy of them. Most of them overlook an essential aspect of their lives on this Earth. They believe they have only one life and that it does not lead to any consequences. This is a serious mistake. All their reckless deeds appallingly hinder their evolution.

"The aim of our way is to guide human beings at the spiritual level and help them become aware of a reality that is beyond them. From life to life, a common thread connects beings who are committed to a way like ours; throughout the rest of their journey they will benefit from help that is appropriate and salutary.

"May all our brothers and sisters consider this prospect and do the needful for their growth, with our full support."
