Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Friday, August 10, 2001 - 5:00 p.m.

My son doesn't forget you, as you think sometimes. His burden is getting heavier, the workload is increasing but his strength is decreasing. He also needs to be surrounded and supported. He has his faithful followers who follow and comfort him, but his heart remains painfully distressed. My daughter, your compassion towards him touches him. He perceives the least impulses coming from your loving heart. Our relationship and what results from it intrigues and moves him.

"He would like to know a little more about all the messages in your possession. As he cannot for the time being go to Montpellier, he remains hungry for more and is waiting for an opportune moment to go further into his investigations. He does not want to rush you; it is up to you to make choices and decisions; no one can do it for you. Your energy, and in a way your life, are in these writings. It is up to you to manage the situation at your convenience. We will guide you at the appropriate time. Take it easy, my dear daughter."
