Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, February 2, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

This is a highly blessed day! The Grand-Master holds a unique place, and he will continue to do so over time. As the initiator of our way, he grants it a stature blessed by the Gods. The future will confirm all these remarks; it takes time to integrate on the human plane that which is essential to the transformation of beings living on this Earth. Sahaj Marg participates in the evolution of those who follow us in this active practice that is without precedent. This is as desired, and it befits the current stage of humanity.

"A enormous work is yet to be done. Many souls aspire to rise, to progress and to understand the intricacies of life in the real sense — something which education in general fails to address in terms of its entire truth. Everything happens in due time; someday all human beings will necessarily have to understand the true meaning of life. This is far from being the case today. The Age of Enlightenment is not a fantasy, but a reality — one that will allow humanity to overcome this distressing stage in its understanding of phenomena and everything humans should know as a matter of priority. It is no longer appropriate to keep human beings away from that which truly is. A wide-spread awareness needs to take place; this movement is essential to human evolution, and nothing will stop it. Keeping beings in a state of ignorance for outmoded reasons is unfitting in current times and will be more so in the future. May all our abhyasis progress as we hope; it has all been planned accordingly. Blessings."
