Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, February 20, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

Even the longest journeys come to an end. Everything provided through their diversity should be considered. Each step is revealing for all who truly strive to remember that which should be remembered. Time and again, we have reverted to the same subjects; from beginning to end, human life builds on constant repetition. Many repetitions are needed, as they help one understand subtleties that are not always easy to grasp in their true sense. Once the end of the journey is reached, it can be easier to realise why one needs so many tests in order to grow and take another step in the right direction. Following a spiritual way helps one to clarify things, to overcome trials and to better appreciate joys. When people's hearts are spiritually fulfilled, another space opens up to them; they better grasp how important it is to go beyond this material world, so as to capture that which emanates from much higher planes of consciousness. Over time, abhyasis become more refined, and they progress without truly realising it. There lies the goal of every approach, and Sahaj Marg provides answers to those who really seek them. A great many hearts are opening up to this higher reality, a space that is humanly indefinable, yet one that holds so many true joys, reinforcing the soul in its need to love and to unite with the Divine in the most beautiful manner. Each step taken in this direction is an unparalleled grace. This world of illusion and various disturbances hides this sublime reality — a reality that is gradually revealed to the seeker who is committed and carried by that love. May all succeed in winning it over. Blessings."
