Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, April 30, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

Times change. The Mission is moving towards a new milestone; its place in this world will grow more and more prominent, according to longstanding plans. Everything is done for the good of our abhyasis. They are advancing imperceptibly, supported by a vibration that is specific to their spiritual elevation. The time has come when the progress of each one must take on a new meaning. Everything is done to achieve the best result in this area; all our brothers and sisters have the potential, and it is up to them to make the most of it. They have all the necessary elements, and our blessings strengthen them day by day.

"Many things need to change here below; these comments will be confirmed in the future through changes that are so far without precedent. We are preparing minds for this. All should rest assured that the best outcome will emerge from the many events to come. This is not for tomorrow; things come at the appropriate time, when necessary. Major upheavals have already occurred on this Earth, and this has been the case since the dawn of time. Our abhyasis express their need to know, and we cannot say everything, but why shouldn't we say that which can be said! Nothing here below is unalterable; an incarnation on this Earth is but a breath in each person's journey. That which is acquired now, adds to the values already accumulated over time. May all our brothers and sisters realise the opportunity they are granted to progress. Time is precious, and it is up to each one to really become aware of it and act for the good in all respects. On these days of celebration, the best is being achieved for all. Special blessings."
