Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, May 20, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

This long journey of messages is not finished; we will revert to a few key points related to the future of our Mission. What concerns us here is that all of our abhyasis should be committed with faith and fervour commensurate with what they receive. It is not easy to see the effects of grace; nothing is done in vain, and a sincere call yields the best results. Many generous and ardent hearts have been committed — some of them for a very long time — to this vast movement which will defy time; they have thus won a reserved place.

"Tests are inevitable here below; being formative in their own manner, they cannot be avoided. The Great Beings are not spared — doesn't everything have its raison d'être! The commitment of the heart is paramount. On its own, it produces wonders that will one day be fully revealed. May all evaluate themselves and choose the best in order to obtain in full measure what this way of the heart offers and achieves in its great, yet apparently simple, manner."
