Regain serenity — it makes these exceptional contacts possible. So much love is distilled through them, putting a balm on your heart and, by extension, on the hearts of our fervent readers. These words that have been repeated, and for such a long time, are not without purpose, you can be sure. Through their special vibration, they contribute to the development of an egregore whose power is growing. They are a valuable asset for this Mission which is dedicated to winning over the hearts of aspirants — all those who truly wish to follow a spiritual path rich in positive results.

"Love, the love that is so often mentioned here, is not easily mastered. There are nuances in the manner in which it is approached, but once an aspirant has started on this trajectory, the results are there, you can be sure. Our perseverance in providing these messages truly has a purpose. Is it not true that the various spiritual movements in the world rely on a teaching like this, the essence of which is disseminated here below by each movement in its own way? The memory of these writings will be preserved in future times, when these messages will be analysed and appreciated. They will be a reminder of a distant past when humans in search of truth followed this path of the heart to prepare themselves for their personal evolution.

"Everything is so slow in the world. A lot of patience is required to achieve the goal. Each step is important. It marks a journey, a trajectory, the importance of which humans do not truly realise. Our abhyasis will not be disappointed. The way of the spirit unfolds before them, the way of sovereign love in all its power of action. This is how it goes. We wish the best to all."
