Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, January 21, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

All these messages are given for general distribution, except for rare personal messages. They have been received over a long period of time, complementing the existing teachings and representing a valuable asset for our Mission. Our dear and great Parthasarathi appreciated them greatly. They helped him on his extraordinary journey as a spiritual Master. Although a spiritual Master is supported by all of us here, the load is heavy and it can be difficult in some circumstances. Parthasarathi is keeping watch and will support his successor going forward, as we have always done for him.

"The Mission is growing, along with the burden of the functionaries. The Mission will have to be structured differently to achieve global cohesion, while being connected to the central point. This point is represented on the material and spiritual planes by the power of the living Master, who is the custodian of our powers of action and supported by our love. This love is an energy that is exceedingly rare. It generates the best when it is taken in and redistributed, as is the case here [through the Master], for the benefit of the whole Mission. Nothing is trivial in such an approach. Valuable time is saved for the abhyasi involved in this extraordinary journey, one that has not yet revealed all its possibilities. These possibilities conform to the level of development of a world that is currently still prey to regrettable limitations.

"Let us continue to work for the best; seeing all of our aspirants advancing is the most beautiful achievement for all of us — we who are so sensitive to the welfare of all our brothers and sisters. We wish the best to this entire Mission."
