Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, February 13, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

This long and painful journey that is so well hidden from the eyes of humans has served our cause masterfully. For our part, we do know and appreciate your rigour; only this could generate such a flawless and truly exceptional work. It is worth emphasising once again — do not be embarrassed, as this is how it is.

"Our dear Kamlesh is entering into his role appropriately; nothing is ever simple in such a process. He is well looked after, and this should help him in the long term. He must make some changes to facilitate the work, his own work and that of the functionaries and preceptors. The commitment by all of them is praiseworthy; each one of them should become aware of the importance of their work. The Mission is a whole; what is accomplished weaves the web of this growing way that corresponds to present-day life, as intended by the higher powers. It paves the way for an unprecedented action capable of helping a humanity that is much more distressed than it seems; the effects of such distress will leave damaging traces.

"Many people are losing touch with reality. They live in an illusory world without even realising it. Reality, that which is essential, escapes them. Most of our committed abhyasis manage to set aside moments of [inner] contact and fruitful practice, providing some balance in their lives. These thousands of messages are intended to help them. Everyone benefits from them in their own manner, depending on how they receive them. May all become truly aware of the importance of their practice and measure its effects as best as possible; they will not be disappointed. Blessings to all."
