Whispers from The Brighter World

Such a level of love cannot be commanded — it manifests itself in its own manner and is lived intensely. These writings are a reflection of such love, and without it they would not exist, at least not with the same intensity and steadfastness over time. A case such as this is rare. It will remain the hallmark of our Mission and testify to an extraordinary love between Master and disciple, united in time and for a great while longer. A love such as this is expressed from one lifetime to the next, for the general good; our beautiful Mission of Sahaj Marg benefits from this heavenly manna that will increasingly characterise it. Our dear Kamlesh is a wise Master. He assumes this role with brilliance and perceptiveness, and he will make the most of this treasure to support action in the Mission that is unprecedented. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être! He was not chosen in vain; thus time will confirm the extraordinary effects in people's hearts of this method that is for the welfare of one and all.

"Many changes will come about in this world. In hindsight, it will be evident that these unprecedented changes will have made things evolve, leading humans to a previously unknown awareness capable of transforming humanity. This awareness will bring about its evolution in the right direction — that is, with a deepening of knowledge at all levels. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être! Ordeals are necessary; they generally lead to open-mindedness. May knowledge one day support the expansion of a collective consciousness, leading humanity to real progress.

"Blessings to all."
