Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, April 28, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

May the time of wholeness, harmony and peace come on Earth. The centuries pass and human beings are still breeding this hatred that is so destructive and harmful to their own evolution. How to make them aware of the need for harmony for the welfare of one and all? Must everything disappear and then re-emerge to bring goodness here below? One might think so. Following a spiritual way is a first step. Although harmony does not necessarily prevail within Sahaj Marg — or within any other path — an effort is being made here, and important work is being accomplished; it prepares a promising future for the advancement of humankind.

"The worlds differ, and there are many of them, contrary to what people believe. Why would this planet be the only inhabited one? Humans think they have reached the pinnacle of knowledge, but such is not the case. Many ideas and beliefs that are considered established today will require reconsidering in the face of future evolution; light will be shed on many topics for the welfare of one and all. All in good time. Would a person of the Middle Ages have imagined all the facets of life today? 'Only spirituality will save the world' — this quote is and will remain relevant, and the visionary quoted could not have said it better.

"Let us work more than ever for the welfare of all; spirituality is rich with benefits, and those who are open to its many possibilities find their way. Sahaj Marg is non-sectarian in the true sense of the term, and it offers many possibilities; it's up to each one to seize them.

"Endless blessings."
