My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, May 7, 2015 — 8:30 a.m.

Take full advantage of the joy this visit provides. Spare yourself — this is imperative — and let your heart feed on these moments of grace. This ashram in Montpellier that is so dear to you will also benefit from the presence of the Master; this is an occasion for all our brothers and sisters and for this blessed place in particular. In the future, its history will take on more importance, owing to some of its special features. All in good time. Each step leaves its mark on the present and on the future when such special places will become reference points in our Mission. Ashrams that are highly charged and that carry [energies] already exist, or are being built in the world, and they will influence the future of this way. Some of their histories will stand out one day in the broader context of the Sahaj Marg Mission. A succession of Masters is already giving them strong support and a structure that will defy time, thus providing a priceless benefit to beings who are committed to this journey.

"Our abhyasis can rejoice; they take part in this unusual movement that helps them more than they think by means of an extraordinary commitment. Nothing is lost with such an approach, contrary to most of life's activities. We wish the best for all and the emergence of a better world, for which spirituality is a major asset. May it one day be understood in this sense and help the greatest number.

"May all be supported and guided appropriately. Endless blessings."

Babuji Maharaj