Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, 8 May 2015 — 8:30 a.m.

Let yourself be carried away by the wave of ceaseless love that connects our hearts. Such a call cannot be ignored; we are attentive to everything that emanates from the Mission as a whole and from each of our abhyasis. Some of them are going through great trials which we cannot spare them; such are the laws of life on Earth. Everything is counted and is a definite contribution. The very subtle action of karmic laws cannot be revealed and are far beyond what can be perceived by a human being, who feels helpless and very small in the face of this power. Surrender, fervour and determination to go farther, to go beyond the material realm, give strength and the necessary conviction to overcome ordeals. This kind of love for divine reality — its ceaseless action on everything — leaves the human being both helpless and stronger in a state of acceptance. Everything has its raison d'être.

"Divine laws are inescapable. We want the best for all our brothers and sisters, who in their great diversity represent all aspects of humanity. Our way is easily accessible to every heart in need; all have their opportunity — our constant attention provides for it. This path of the heart will go far in time; many beings are committed, and they advance more than they think. The results are not necessarily visible, but they are real. Is that not what matters?

"Blessings to all on this special day marked by the visit of our beloved Kamlesh. He is blessed by the gods, as are one and all."
