Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, October 13, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

Immerse yourself in us, in the heart of silence, which delights the soul and allows it to attain a state of bliss. These constantly repeated words are necessary, as they enable a connection that is faster and more profound in its results. The divine energy operates as is appropriate for each person. It establishes rules according to the seeker's inner tendencies in order to create a vibration conducive to the blossoming of the being at its most subtle level. Everyone responds in his or her own manner.

"The heart is both the most fragile and the most resilient instrument, as it endures so many disturbances at all levels. The heart is an absolute wonder; human beings will continue to be astonished by its complexity. In particular, they have yet to discover its multiple capabilities that are crucial not only for the life of the physical body but also for the expansion of the soul. This notion is very understated in today's societies; the level of consciousness must be raised substantially in order for this action to be understood and accepted as it should be. Human evolution involves many factors, spirituality being the most important one. That which it generates is beyond human comprehension, yet it is so very productive. One day, the divine goal will be attained. The conquest of hearts continues in its own manner, and it is crucial for several reasons. Time justifies this statement by accelerating the evolutionary process that is planned and highly necessary.

"That is how it is. May the divine will manifest in all its power and reality. Blessings."
