Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 25, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

We have not chosen you in vain — do not feel embarrassed by these words — most fortunately, we know what we are doing. Channeling is one aspect in this matter; very long-standing bonds of the heart give the messages a unique vibration. Some beings perceive it, as they have a sensitivity that is suited to such phenomena, allowing them a more in-depth approach to our intentions and special transmission. This kind of action is very subtle. The human being of today is far from grasping the totality of the phenomena that surround each person and that form human characteristics. The future will bring an expansion of consciousness that will take the human being back to ancient times when life here below was extremely subtle. Cycles have been occurring like this since the dawn of time, and in some cases they have faded from collective memory. So many incidents have occurred that would result in disturbing people instead of helping them. Logic would have what is most important come about, namely the elevation of beings, of the soul of each person, allowing one to cope with life as it will be in the future — very different in every respect from the life of today. The human being will need to become stronger, letting go of that which is unnecessary in order to enter a new phase of life in this world, geared towards a planned evolution that is necessary for the general good. This is how it is."
