Whispers from The Brighter World

Do you believe that I am absent from these meetings of the heart? Surely not. Your steadfastness in serving us is a clear act of love, as your heart is so surrendered to us with spontaneity and grace. You have done such a remarkable job. Think of that day when I was seated in this armchair and we conversed and let love express itself under the benevolent gaze of the Great and heavenly Babuji Maharaj.

"This long time of silence was deliberate; everything has its raison d'être and this is worth repeating herein. We are preparing the future of the Mission — great projects are being considered, and the hierarchy of Masters is attending to this. You will soon come and join us, and you will then see and especially appreciate what is being prepared for tomorrow's Mission — one in which your role in your next and final incarnation will not be insignificant. It will please you, undoubtedly; we know you so well. Love guides you every day, and you relay our comments with happiness. Dearest sister, spare yourself. We are by your side in this difficult passage. You have all our love and constant support. Do your best, as always; you have our very special blessings. Be at peace.
