Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, February 24, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

We are pleased to see how much the messages have brought to our abhyasis, according to each person's ability to assimilate all the teachings the messages offer. They are not given in vain. Minds are opening up, and they can glimpse that which did not seem feasible just a few years back. Modern life, as it is called, provides access to certain knowledge that was not accessible to everyone some decades ago. In every human being there is a spiritual potential about which, quite often, one doesn't have the slightest idea. Destiny then provides encounters or various opportunities to access knowledge that can change life for the good of the seeker.

"Following a spiritual path opens up horizons on the Infinite — this sacred space where true mystics actually discover themselves in terms of their deeper aspirations for the Divine. The true asset of one's life then emerges, enabling real progress on this sacred quest. Everything is slow in this world; it takes time to break free from the useless. Each incarnation offers opportunities, those of knowledge and progress of the spiritual being towards the noblest purpose of all — merger with the Ultimate. Thus, everyone can reveal their own potential and truly progress by shedding what is unnecessary. The path is long but so rewarding as one nears the long-awaited divine goal — ultimate joy — while being carried by our unending love for all."
