Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, March 18, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Time passes and life experiences accumulate, adding to the journey of every human being. The laws are the same for everyone. Whether king or beggar, the roles for each person follow one another, providing what is suitable according to the laws of evolution. Managing to refine oneself enough to reach a satisfactory level of consciousness leads one to a very beautiful advancement, hence the ceaseless action of the Masters in carrying out this great work that is both collective and on the human level. To achieve this very noble goal, the Masters, whether incarnate or not, are active in the work, being fully supported by the divine power.

The teachings of Sahaj Marg may seem simple, but they operate appropriately wherever necessary, and especially according to the abhyasi's inner aptitudes. Each person receives according to his or her inner call, faith and the gains already made. From one incarnation to another, this inner call is strengthened and adapted as may be required for a more specific advancement. Following an actively effective spiritual path saves valuable time. Our continual repetition has no other purpose than to activate the evolutionary process of each person. Sometimes it does not take much to raise awareness about a reality that has been previously ignored for many reasons. Then the path of life becomes more productive, since the idea of reincarnation becomes clearer, thus reinforcing the motivation of the aspirant.

Time is precious for all; forging ahead and seeing only good and constructive aspects is very gratifying. We can only rejoice over the progress of our abhyasis.

Special blessings to all.
