Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, April 2, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Life creates life; it is eternally beginning anew. Divine laws contribute to its expansion and to its ceaseless manifestation which occurs over all creation. The numerous planets where this energy prevails are as one and are maintained by a very special energy, forming a coherent vibrational whole, which allows these planets to resist the many phenomena that characterise them. The real mystery of life is and will remain inaccessible to human knowledge. This world is being observed and studied by higher powers, about which human beings have no idea. All these laws remain very mysterious to them. Trying to understand such laws is commendable, but in reality that does not promote true knowledge. Such knowledge is accessed through the path of a true spirituality and by going deeper into the divine laws in their creative aspect and in their effects, which are manifold. All this is complicated for humans and completely beyond them.

Seeking to understand is commendable but a real spiritual progress is based on surrender and detachment from material aspects to the degree possible. That is wisdom itself. This attitude is the best, promoting the expansion of the soul in order to bring it to realisation, the purpose of each life cycle in this world of matter. All these comments may be unclear but they summarise in their own manner what human beings must understand and accept in order to progress. Nothing is ever simple, hence our constant blessings that they may achieve the best.
