Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, July 25, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Days and years pass, and rituals are renewed. They weave the fabric of a great history, a long lasting one yielding benefits that cannot be assessed at their true value. Nothing is done without good reason, at least in this Mission. This celebration, which was somewhat different from previous ones, has given rise to reflection and has created a stir among our abhyasis; it has also facilitated among the wisest a necessary interiorisation that can produce the best.

Doesn't everything have its raison d'être! No one is perfect on Earth; the greatest in the world have also made mistakes, but in the end some of those mistakes have sometimes borne fruit. Who can claim to be above reproach? Those who are the most exposed have heavy loads; no matter what they may do, they are often subjected to criticism. This is how it is.

May each of our abhyasis find within themselves the peace, the strength and the wisdom to always face up to life in terms of its diversity and multiple trials. Nothing is in vain; everything is counted, you can be sure of this.

May our ceaseless blessings help the greatest number of people. Such are our constant wishes.
