Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, September 11, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

Forget this noisy world that is tormented in so many ways; this incessant noise disturbs human nature on subtle levels where it should not. Isolation and meditation help a person regain stability and an equilibrium of the different bodies that require harmony among themselves. A spiritual way calls forth this peace within oneself, promoting growth on this very exceptional journey.

Sahaj Marg will have left its definitive mark on this century in its own manner. The way is open; it is up to each one to become involved in it and to proceed further ahead. The elevation of the soul is the noblest achievement, and it places the being in the best possible position.

The egregore of this Mission is growing. It will leave its mark on these times through the best that it generates. So many beautiful souls join it and blossom according to our wishes, opening up to the immutable peace which carries them henceforth. The best is yet to come, as this Mission will continue to astonish, you can all be sure. Very special blessings to everyone on this day — a singular one for all of us here who are attentive to it.
