Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, December 18, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

These messages are a true asset. They will be highly appreciated in the future and considered a reference in our Mission. What this future will be, we cannot define at present. We are preparing it for the best at our level. What is best suited for the evolution of each of our abhyasis, and by extension for the development of a better world, is being developed in silence and in the secrecy of the heart. What does not seem possible today will come about one day; many phenomena will appear, modifying what now exists and leading humanity to a healthier life — one where the hatred of today can make room for more vibrational harmony, essential for the overall evolution of creation.

The human being is supposed to set an example with his or her behaviour. We are not there yet, but this 'magic seed', let us call it, has been sown. This may seem utopian. Since the beginning of life on Earth, many other major upheavals have occurred and have completely changed it. To the divine power nothing is impossible. Whatever they may think about it, human beings are very small, even insignificant in the face of this power. What must be will be; our Mission is active along these lines, far more than it may seem.

Blessings to all.
