Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, March 10, 2017 — 10:00 a.m.

Everything is planned; everything in life happens in a timely manner according to the laws of karma. Human beings believe they decide what happens to them, but that cannot be. They must subject themselves to what constitutes the unfolding of their incarnations. All incarnations provide them with the experiences necessary for their development; trials follow one another, and so do joys. Everything conforms to the divine plan, for the good of each one. It is not always easy for the human being to accept the heaviness of karma, which is edifying in the long run. May each one comply with it and take full advantage of its teaching. Blessings to all.
