Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, April 12, 2017 — 10:00 a.m.

Incessant trials disrupt the lives of human beings; such are the divine laws that, in all their subtlety, govern human beings. The human being is so small in relation to these laws; all one can do is adapt to their rigour. Karma is very mysterious; what is its real significance? Can it be explored more deeply and represent a real benefit through a meticulous approach? In reality, human beings can only accept; they plan their lives, but what does God do — He laughs! This is an ancient saying, but the laws remain the same, and you can believe that nothing [about this] will change here below.

Centuries will pass before a new world emerges, one in which everything will have to be reconsidered. Foolish is the person who believes he or she knows. One day each one will reach the divine goal. The worlds evolve far from human understanding; that does not matter, since the final objective is inevitable. Here the apotheosis will unfold, and 'reality' will appear before the eyes of humans, in all its truth. Finally, the human being will attain it, and for the best reasons ever.

This is how it is.
