Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, August 15, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

Each step taken in the Mission is constructive, and no one is forgotten; the Mission forms a whole that will defy time. Changes will inevitably occur in accordance with the movement of life in all its manifestations. The heart of Sahaj Marg is in India, but it is being reflected all around the world. Such is its sacred role; it will always respond to requests, wherever they may come from. The alliance of Masters is carefully following the expansion of the Mission on Earth. Change will be made to the Mission's organisational system to meet the needs of all people and places, in addition to other requirements of the present time. Everything will be done as required for the good of this Mission, in order to foster an expansion that is desired and awaited.

Everything moves slowly but all is falling into place in a stable manner, even though nothing is ever simple here below; rather, things often become far too complicated. No matter, it is said that everything has its raison d'être. Our action is real, unfailing in its effects. It can take a lot of time on Earth for a sustainable movement to be developed, one that is capable of generating significant results for the advancement of beings committed to this process. Sahaj Marg's strength of action is real, you can be sure; the alliance of Masters can gauge its importance, and its worldwide expansion will not stop now. The divine power operates at its convenience. May we witness the effects it produces for the good of all our faithful aspirants. To them, the best ever, supported by our ceaseless action.
