Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Tuesday, January 6, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

How many characters did you play in your many previous incarnations that led you to who you are today? There is continuity and enlightenment in this process. The human being would like to have a review of all those lives, but meeting this expectation is not a prerogative in our way. Our brothers must content themselves with doing their best to make a success of this incarnation, by making it possible to bring about the anticipated results regarding spiritual evolution, which is the positive aspect to be cultivated and given priority.

"All their attention must be focused on their current life. It is so easy to always act in accordance with certain ethics, without ever departing from them. Man is weakened in certain circumstances, and can lose ground with respect to the rules that he has imposed on himself. By complying with the principles of spiritual practice, he is brought back (if necessary) to the reality of his trajectory. We understand that this idea is attractive to a human being who believes in the reality of the laws of reincarnation.

"Who hasn't dreamed of a flashback of their previous incarnations? But is it not likely to be long, and especially painful? Man must come to terms with his destiny here and now on this Earth, in order to free himself from his chains and from the need to return here. Our way provides for it and our aspirants are conscious of it, hence the ardour displayed by some of them. The primary goal is liberation: it clears the way for another step of advancement fostered by a rigorous practice. On no account will their efforts be in vain. May they all be blessed."
