Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Thursday, January 8, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

The puzzle is being pieced together in these messages; they come from different sources, thus supplementing remarks meant to enlighten our brothers. Not everything can be said; we will not repeat again that the current knowledge prevailing on Earth does not allow for advancing very far.

"We want to draw the attention of human beings to the fact that, contrary to what they believe, they are not the centre of the universe, nor the most advanced creatures possessing trustworthy knowledge. The same prejudices are practised on Earth by one race over another, some of them believing they are superior. One day, man will have to reconsider these issues, and see himself for what he is: confined to a narrow conception of the phenomena that occur on this Earth and beyond. As per his typical colonising mindset, he is unscrupulously quick to explore other planets, not sparing any relevant effort and without worrying about the damage he may cause to other forms of life. Given the growth of his conquering mindset, one day such doings will have to be stopped, as they are endangering a certain vibratory equilibrium. Human beings are incorrigible; their alleged progress is used almost exclusively to destroy, without worrying about people who are disadvantaged and who suffer.

"Many people are uniting into effective groups with a view to helping the most destitute and to counter the horrors generated by unscrupulous country leaders who focus only on profit. This poor world in distress where life is not easy! And yet, it is a place to live where evolution is possible provided necessary efforts are made. May humanity pull itself together and move towards a collective awareness that befits the new era!"
