Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, December 30, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

The time will come when a kingdom of peace and love will be established on this Earth. There will be much to do for that; there will be many trials but they will generate the best. Human beings will finally become aware of the the higher reality and its role in this vision of a planned evolution. Many values will prevail in this world – values that are neglected today due to a lack of information and the open-mindedness capable of bringing about such results. How to make our brothers and sisters aware of this need to move forward and not postpone until tomorrow what can be accomplished today? Visionary minds are busy working; they understand the importance of their commitment and of what is being created in our Mission today with the prospect of a spectacular advancement in the future.

Foundations are being laid; it is up to each and every one to understand the importance of their action, of their involvement in a practice accompanied by a commitment to anything that can help the Mission expand and prosper in every organisational aspect. Everything is counted, nothing is trivial, and all goodwill is appreciated. The Mission is a whole and is expanding across the world. Many hearts are committing themselves; they understand the importance of such an approach. Without this salutary outlook, where would humanity's hope lie? Humanity is growing in terms of the number of incarnate beings, but the prospects for peace and love to manifest here below have yet to become a reality. May our Mission one day shine brightly in a new era so dearly hoped for.
