Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, January 11, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Life is eternally beginning anew. Many cycles on this Earth have left their mark on it; major changes will occur again, and they will be decisive for the human race, its evolution and its continuity over time and space. Frequently, it is necessary to go to the bottom of things so that a beneficial transformation emanates from it all.

This planet has never been so populated; this so-called progress does not especially serve the spiritual evolution of human beings. A life too focused on materiality cannot produce the best in this domain. Too many temptations and distractions of all kinds monopolise human beings and divert them to some extent from the goal to be reached.

It is not easy in such a context to focus on what is essential; only a profound motivation can lead the seeker to a degree of detachment that is conducive to a true spiritual approach. It is up to each one to observe oneself, to take stock of one's true motivations and one's commitment towards the spiritual Master, and towards the Mission as a whole – what it includes in terms of humanity with its unavoidable uncertainties and inevitable difficulties.

This profound motivation ought to help the aspirant overcome anything that is fundamentally irrelevant. Only the goal matters, the single goal that helps humans divest themselves of what is useless and move towards their primary objective: to advance further and further in this sublime quest of the Divine, the essence of which is unique. A deep commitment attracts our attention. May all advance with determination under our constant blessings.
