Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, January 31, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

This harvest of messages is quite abundant; it is a definite contribution to our Mission. This reading has become a part of the spiritual life of many of our abhyasis. Each day, life brings its assortment of experiences, some of which are more evident than others. Nothing is useless; joys and sorrows merge and form a whole that is necessary for human evolution.

Sadhana – for all our brothers and sisters – is a sure way to advance towards the goal. A profound aspiration brought them to us where a necessary and beneficial advancement is taking place. This quest for the Divine will lead them gradually to the essence of a lifetime, to the alleviation of a cumbersome burden and the opening of psychic centres necessary for their evolution. This evolution is planned from the outset in an approach such as we propose. In truth, it is all simple; nothing is demanding in this practice, which is within the reach of each participant who is sufficiently committed. All are progressing in their own manner, but in a definitive way when it is sincere and matched with a genuine commitment of the heart. Seizing this opportunity in an incarnation denotes a profound aspiration to unite with the Divine.

The sure way – that is what we offer here; many benefit from it and we are happy for that. In the future, when life has become more complicated in many respects, spiritually committed beings will have this sacred refuge, one that is unalterable. In these times to come, life will not have the same pace as that of today. Perhaps it will again become more attentive to true realities. We cannot anticipate anything, only try to bring as many elements as possible to our aspirants for their personal elevation. The results, over time, are very significant.

May the best be accomplished for the good of all. We are contributing to it here, with tenacity and fervour. All the Masters – gathered together with the incarnate Master, who is continuously supported with love – are working in this direction.

May love and peace be established across the entire Mission.
