Whispers from The Brighter World

Rise above this human pettiness; it is inevitable, even in a spiritual way like ours. Look at what is still happening in mystical groups that have influenced humanity since ancient times. See only the good and the beautiful in everyone, as your beloved and great Saint Francis of Assisi used to say. Whatever their shortcomings, human beings always keep a part of their personality shielded from their most prominent flaws. Don't they possess, well hidden in their innermost core, that divine energy that makes them different from other forms of life! Humans have this distinctive feature, though that does not make them superior. All of creation deserves respect, since it is the work of the divine power.

The human being operates, so to speak, under supervision: what each one does and says is known and recorded, one might say. We are emphasising it once again to make all our aspirants fully aware of the implications of their actions and words, with respect to their commitment towards the living Master. He holds the powers conferred upon him by the entire hierarchy, which is so very attentive to his person, to his well-being and to the sincerity of the people who surround him.

We wish the best for him and the entire Mission; hence the necessity of our choices regarding major assets that only we can assess, being free from the miasma of materiality. A living Master is carried by our energies; we perceive human annoyances and evaluate them very accurately.

Blessed are the pure in heart who are detached as much as possible from the manifestations of the ego, which leads some people to behave in an aberrant way. May all our brothers and sisters go towards what is essential, and increasingly focus on the heart of the heart – where the action of the living Master is to be found, coupled with our blessings.
