Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, May 19, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Let your heart exude its fragrances. They are imbued with our love and they reach their target gradually. This kind of vibration is perceivable by the entire being; there lies the sublime reward, unique in its essence. This very special communion has generated these numerous messages that are also very subtly imbued, a communion felt by sensitive souls touched by grace. These writings are of a rare essence. Happy are the hearts capable of grasping the benefits; they are so very blessed.
